To the student

Grammar Practice for Elementary Students gives short, clear explanations of grammar and provides practice exercises for you to do. The book has three stages with a test at the end of each stage. Stage I is the easiest and Stage III is the most difficult.

There are two ways in which this book can be used:

- i) in class, with help from your teacher;
- ii) at home by yourself.

You can complete Stage I before starting Stage II or you can choose areas of grammar that you need to practise from different parts of the book. Use the Index and the Contents list to find the areas that you want to study. Then read the explanation, do the exercises and check your answers in the Key.

We hope that Grammar Practice for Elementary Students helps you to improve your English.

Fill each gap with a suitable word to complete Andrew's letter to his pen-friend.

Dear José,

Thank you for your letter. It was ¹ interesting. And thank you for the photographs. Your village looks beautiful. Now I would like to tell you a little about myself and ² family. I live ³ a town about 40 miles (that's about 64 kilometres) from London. I've ⁴ one brother and one sister and we all ⁵ to the local school. At the weekends I often play football with the school team. I sometimes go ⁹ at the local pool. ¹⁰ is a very good gym at the pool, too.

I look forward to your next letter.

Best wishes,

Andrew

39c Write sentences comparing the Grand Hotel and the Sea View Hotel. Use the adjectives in the box.

peaceful	big	small	lovely	beautiful comfortable	cold	cheap	clean	friendly
expensive	warm	noisy	central

Grand Hotel

The Grand Hotel is a beautiful hotel in the centre of town. It is a big hotel with 120 rooms. The rooms are all very clean, comfortable and warm but they are quite noisy because the hotel is on a main road. I found the hotel staff polite but not very friendly.

This is not the hotel for a cheap holiday. The rooms are quite expensive at around £100 per person per night for bed and breakfast.

Sea View Hotel

The Sea View Hotel is a 30-room hotel about three kilometres from the centre of town. The building is not very beautiful but the rooms have lovely views of the sea and the hotel is nice and peaceful. The rooms are not always very clean and sometimes they are a bit cold at night. But the hotel staff are always very friendly and the hotel is very cheap. It only costs £30 per person per night for bed and breakfast.

47 The be going to future and Present Continuous as future: contrast

Plans

We can use the present continuous as future and the be going to future to talk about plans. However, we use the present continuous more often when we are talking about the arrangements we have made for the future. We use the be going to future to talk about what we have decided to do:

I'm flying to Brussels on Thursday. = I have bought the air ticket.

I'm going to fly to Brussels on Thursday. = I have decided to fly there. I am talking about my intention/decision.

We're meeting next Saturday. = We have arranged when and where to meet.

We're going to meet next Saturday. = We have decided to meet next Saturday.

- Remember that we need a future time word/expression with the present continuous as future.
- With the verbs go and come, the present continuous as future is more usual:

I'm going to Paris next week.

I'm going to go to Paris next week.

Both these sentences are correct but the first is more usual.

Predictions

We use the be going to future to make predictions:

(a) Look at that toast. It's going to burn.

(b) Look at that toast. It's burning.

(a) is the correct future. (b) is not the future. It means the toast is burning now.

(a) The grass is going to grow very tall in the summer.

(b) The grass is growing very tall in the summer.

(a) is correct. (b) is not correct.

We cannot use the present continuous as future to talk about predictions.

Practice

- 47 In your notebook, write the sentences putting the verbs into the be going to future. Then write each sentence again with the verb in the present continuous as future where this is possible.

- 1 We my grandmother tomorrow. (visit)

We're going to visit my grandmother tomorrow.

 Please do not talk in the library.

FORM

- Positive: the infinitive form of the verb.
- Negative: Do not, Don't + infinitive.

- To give instructions. It is often used in written instructions, e.g. in public places, in instruction manuals, on boxes, packets, etc. Also used in spoken instructions to explain how to do something.
- To give orders, e.g. officer to soldier, teacher to pupil.

Notes

- Do not use the imperative for requests:
 NOT ~~Give me a drink~~. This is not very polite.
 Use Could you, I ... ? or Would you ... ?:
Could I have a drink, please?
- Sometimes please is used with the imperative. Please can come at the beginning or end of the sentence:
Please wait here.
 Wait here, please.
- On signs and notices, the gerund is often used for negative instructions:
 No smoking.

Practice

48 Complete the sentences using an imperative. Use the verbs in the box.

Verbs

67 I've been to Australia: Present Perfect tense

FORM

Positive

I You We They	have ('ve)	finished.
She He It	has ('s)

Negative

I You We They	haven't (have not)	finished.
She He	hasn't

Question

Have	I you we they	finished?
Has	she he it

Short answers

Yes, No,	I you we they	have. haven't.
	she he it	has. hasn't.

- has, have + past participle
- In regular verbs, the past participle and the past simple are both formed from the infinitive + ed:

Infinitive		Past simple	Past participle
arrive	→	arrived	arrived
play	→	played	played
visit	→	visited	visited
stop	→	stopped	stopped

- For the past participle of irregular verbs, see Appendix 1.

USE

- To talk about the past with no time reference:
Elena has arrived. (present perfect)
Elena arrived at 2 o'clock. (past simple)

We do not say:

~~Elena has arrived at 2 o'clock.~~

We do not use time words (yesterday, last week, in the summer, etc.) with the present perfect. When we use the present perfect, the time is not important or we do not know the time. In the same way, we do not use the present perfect to ask about time. We say:

When did you go there?

NOT ~~When have you been there?~~

- We often use the present perfect with the past participle been. We use been like the verb to go and often say been to:

I went to Paris last year. but I've been to Paris.

NOT ~~I've gone to Paris.~~

Compare these two sentences:

She's gone to Canada. (and she is there now)

She's been to Canada. (but she is not there now)

- We often use ever in the question form:
Have you ever been to Greece? (ever = in your life)

Practice

67a Put the verbs in brackets into the present perfect. All the verbs in this exercise are regular.

- 1 I have worked very hard for this exam. (work)

68 Present Perfect tense with for and since

I've lived here for ten years.
 We've been in the new office since January.
 'How long have you worked here?' 'For five years.'

- We use the present perfect with for or since to talk about something that started in the past and continues in the present:

I've been here | since January.
 | for five months.

- since + the point in time when it started for + the period of time:

I've been here | since January.
 | for five months.
 = I came here | in January. (and I'm still here)
 | five months ago.

- Note the difference:

I've worked for the bank for three years.
 (and I still work for the bank now)

I worked for the bank for three years.
 (but I don't work for the bank now)

Note: We do not use since with the past simple.

71 Modals: introduction

 Emma could swim when she was three.
 It may rain tomorrow.
 We might see you at the weekend.
 You should go and see the doctor.
 You must come straight home.

FORM

- Positive:
 Subject + modal + verb
We should go now.
You must stay.
She can help us.
- Negative:
 Subject + modal + not (or n't) + verb
We mustn't stay out late.
She may not come.
- Question:
 Modal + subject + verb:
Can you drive?*
Must they leave now?*

- Also see Stage II, exercise 49 on can, can't.

- can, can't is present:
I can play the piano.
We can stop working now.
 or sometimes future:
She can come tonight.

- could, couldn't is past. We use it to talk about ability/knowing how to do something:
She could play the piano when she was five.
She couldn't speak English very well when she arrived.
- We do not use the positive form could to talk about events that happened. But we can use the negative form couldn't to talk about activities/events that were not possible:
She couldn't come to the party. (= It was not possible for her to come to the party.)
 NOT ~~She could come to the party.~~
They couldn't eat all their dinner. (= It was not possible for them to eat all their dinner.)
 NOT ~~They could eat all their dinner.~~
- can and could are also used in requests:
Can you help me?*
Could you open the door for me, please?*
Can I have a drink, please?*
Could we use your phone?*

can and could are both correct in requests but could is a little more polite.

Sentence structure

WORD ORDER

85 Subject, verb, object

- Every sentence has a verb (go, stay, live, talk, etc). The verb can be one word:

^S He ^V goes.	^S She ^V stays.	(present simple)
--------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------	------------------

or a group of words:

^S They ^V were singing.	^S He ^V was laughing.	(past continuous)
------------------------------------------------------	----------------------------------------------------	-------------------

- Nearly all sentences have a subject – the person or thing that ‘does’ the verb:

^S She understands.	^S They 're working.	^S The baby 's sleeping.
------------------------------------	-------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------

- Generally, there are two types of verb:

(a) verbs that take an object:

^S She ^V hit ^O him.	^S I ^V like ^O them.	^S They ^V took ^O the money.
------------------------------------------------------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------	--------------------------------------------------------------------------

(b) verbs that do not take an object:

^S I 'm talking.	^S We 're waiting.	^S She 's sleeping.

Note: Some verbs can be type (a) or type (b):

Appendix 2 Basic spelling rules

- 1 y → i before ed, er, est, ly
y → ie before s
y changes to i in words ending in consonant + y before adding another ending.
 (Consonants: b, c, d, f, g, h, j, k, l, m, n, p, q, r, s, t, v, w, x, y, z.
 Vowels: a, e, i, o, u.)
 - Verbs in the past simple with she, he, it:
y → i before adding ed:
hurry → hurried
try → tried
 - Comparative er ending and superlative est ending:
y → i before adding er or est:
happy → happier → happiest
noisy → noisier → noisiest
 - Adverbs of manner:
y → i before adding ly:
easy → easily
hungry → hungrily
 - Verbs in the present simple with she, he, it:
y → ie before adding s:
carry → carries
worry → worries
 - Plural nouns:
y → ie before adding s:
baby → babies
lady → ladies
- Note: y does not change to i in words ending in vowel + y:
play → plays
enjoy → enjoyed boy → boys

2 + e

- Words ending in s, ch, sh or x, add e before final s:

glass → glasses	pass → passes
match → matches	catch → catches
dish → dishes	wash → washes
box → boxes	fix → fixes

- Words ending in consonant + o often add es:

tomato → tomatoes
potato → potatoes

But words ending in vowel + o, add s:

radio → radios

And abbreviated nouns ending in o, add s:

kilo → kilos (kilogramme)

Note: Also do → does, go → goes

3 e

We drop the single e at the end of a word before adding another ending:

- Before ing:

smile → smiling
live → living

- Before ed:

love → loved
dance → danced

- Before er and est:

nice → nicer → nicest
large → larger → largest

Note: Verbs ending in ee:

see → seeing
agree → agreeing → agreed
free → freeing → freed

4 g → gg

Words ending in vowel + consonant, double the consonant before adding another ending:

- Before ing:

stop → stopping
swim → swimming

- Before ed:

plan → planned
rob → robbed

- Before er and est:

big → bigger → biggest hot → hotter → hottest

Notes

- Do not double the consonant when the word ends in two vowels + consonant:
quiet → quieter → quietest
repeat → repeating
- Do not double the consonant when the syllable is not stressed:
enter → entering
happen → happening
remember → remembering
- But when the unstressed syllable ends in l, the consonant does double:
travel → travelling
- y and w are not consonant sounds at the end of a word and so they do not double:
play → playing
low → lower → lowest

Appendix 3 Use of short forms (contractions)

In spoken English, we usually use short forms ('s, 're). It is also now quite common to use short forms (contractions) in written English.

Short forms

am	→	'm
is	→	's
are	→	're
has	→	's
have	→	've
had	→	'd
will	→	'll
would	→	'd

Note: We do not use short forms in positive short answers:

Are you Irish? Yes, I am. (NOT ~~Yes, I'm.~~)

Is Alan here? Yes, he is. (NOT ~~Yes, he's.~~)

But we can use the short forms in negative short answers:

No, I'm not.

No, she isn't/'s not.

No, they aren't/'re not.

1 is → 's
has → 's

We can use the 's short form after pronouns:

She's not here at the moment.

(is)

He's got a bad cold.

(has)

And we can use the 's short form after question words:

Who, What, Where, When, Why, How:

Who's coming?

(is)

What's she got?

(has)

We can also use the 's short form after nouns and names:

Jane's coming tomorrow.

(is)

The school's got a new library.

(has)

But we do not use the short form when the word ends in s, z, sh, ge, ch or x (after the sounds /s/, /z/, /ʃ/, /dʒ/, /tʃ/, /ks/):

The class is finishing now. (NOT ~~The class's ...~~)

The fish is very expensive. (NOT ~~The fish's ...~~)

My watch has broken.

This sponge is very soft.

This box is empty.

The old village has grown into a town.

2 are → 're

have → 've

We can use the 're and 've short forms after pronouns:

They're coming home tomorrow.

You're quite right.

We've done all our work.

They've gone out.

But we do not use the 're and 've short forms after nouns and names or after question words. We use the full forms are and have:

The students are doing their exams. (NOT ~~The students're ...~~)

The shops have closed now. (NOT ~~The shops've ...~~)

Who are you going to see? (NOT ~~Who're ...~~)

My mother and I are going to visit my sister in Australia.

My bags have gone.

3 Negative short forms:

not → n't (isn't, aren't, wasn't, weren't, etc.)

Note: will not → won't

We can use the n't short form after any pronouns, nouns or names:

Emma isn't here.

The lectures aren't very interesting.

My sister doesn't live with us.

We can also shorten the negative by using the positive short form + not ('s not, 're not, 've not). This is not so common as the n't short form. We use it to emphasise the not. We can use this whenever it is possible to use 's, 're, 've:

No, they're not coming.

He's working quite hard but he's not learning very much.

Key

In your answers, you can use the contracted or uncontracted form of verbs, e.g. She is coming. or She's coming. Both of these sentences are correct. The Key does not always give the verb in both the contracted and the uncontracted forms but both forms are generally correct. There are only a few occasions when it is not possible to use a contracted form. See Appendix 3 on short forms.
